Module 2 – Childhood in Tupelo, dad in prison

| | |
|-------------------------|---|
| Scope | Childhood Going to church, time with neighbors Dad to prison, lost house Mom got dad out with governor reprieve Move to Pascagoula and back |
| Keywords | Poor, church, childhood, family, neighbors, dad, arrested, 1938, prison, sharecropper, Frank Richards, move, governor, leniency, hardship, Pascagoula, work, Navy, Memphis |
| Answer | We were dirt poor as I grew up in Tupelo, but my family life was filled with love. Church was a big part of our lives. We went to 3 services a week, which helped us forget some of our worries. We liked singing together and sharing community meals afterward with neighbors. When I was 3, my dad got arrested and sentenced to 3 years hard labor in Parchman Farm State Penitentiary in prison for altering a check. Trying to keep our family fed, he changed a $4 check he received for selling a pig into a $40 check and got caught. As dad was enduring backbreaking labor, we lost our house because mom and I couldn't farm the neighbor's land we were sharecropping on. We moved in with the family of my mom's cousin, Frank Richards in South Tupelo. Mom fought hard to get dad out of prison, and finally after almost a year the governor granted leniency because of our hardship. We then moved to Pascagoula and dad found work in a Navy shipyard, but missed out friends in Tupelo and moved back after just 8 months. Soon after my dad got a job in Memphis and the whole family eventually moved there. |

Module 3 – Family, mom’s death

| | |
|------------------|--|
| Scope | Mom and dad Ages when born Mom’s maiden name Type of work they did Poor, welfare Mom’s alcohol abuse Mom’s death |
| Keywords | Mom, dad, age, maiden name, occupation, welfare, Sam Phillips, Sun Records, hepatitis, death, alcohol, absences, Army, 1958, heartbroken, |
| Answer | My dad, Vernon Elvis Presley was 20 when I was born, and my mom (who’s maiden name was Gladys Love) was 21. My dad worked as a laborer and my mom worked in a garment factory. They were both born in Mississippi. We were “dirt poor” and on welfare until just a few weeks before I met Sam Phillips, the founder of Sun Records. My mom and I were especially close, maybe because I was her only child. After I became famous I didn’t get to spend much time with her. She didn’t like sharing me with so many others. My long absences turned her increasingly to alcohol, which eventually destroyed her health. When I was in Army basic training, her health deteriorated. I was fortunate to have been granted leave and was able to spend time with her before she passed away. She died of acute hepatitis on August 14, 1958. Her death broke my heart, and I cried inconsolably. She was all I had lived for. I never really got over her death, and some people say I was never the same afterwards. |

| Scope | Sang in church Sang hymns gospel songs in storm cellar 5th grade sang at tri-state fair |
| Keywords | First singing, age, church, hymns, tornados, cellar, 5 th grade, school, singing, music contest, tri-state fair, Old Shep, 1944 |
| Answer | I've always loved singing, and have done it as long as I can remember. Once as church when I was only two, I wandered away from my parents right on up to the choir and stood there and sang with them. I didn't really know the words, but I was right on key. We sang around home all the time. In summers when we'd have storms and tornados in Tupelo, my mom and I would sit in the storm cellar together singing hymns and gospel songs to keep our spirits up. In 5th grade my teacher talked my mom into entering me into a singing contest at the tri-state fair. At the contest, I was last on the program and I had no musical accompaniment, but I climbed upon the shaky platform, stood on a chair (so I could reach the microphone) and sang "Old Shep" – simply, sincerely, and with feeling for hundreds of people. I got second place and had a great time. |

Module 5 – First Guitar

| | |
|------------------|---|
| Scope | Getting first guitar Learning how to play |
| Keywords | 1946, guitar, Tupelo Hardware Company, birthday, mom, chords, strumming, |
| Answer | In 1946 my mom bought me my first guitar (for ($12.95) from Tupelo Hardware Company as a birthday present. I really wanted a .22 bolt-action rifle I'd seen on my many trips in, but my mom thought I was too young and it was too dangerous. The guitar turned out to be OK. I began teaching myself the basic chords. I'd sit for hours beside the radio or phonograph, learning the words to all the songs and strumming the accompaniment. |

Module 6 – Family’s Move to Memphis

| | |
|------------------|--|
| Scope | Dad worked in Memphis in WWII My family moved there when I was 13 Experienced blues and gospel music |
| Keywords | WWII, dad, work, Memphis, war, move, 1948, music, “race music”, rhythm, blues, gospel, |
| Answer | During most of the World War II years, My mom and I were left alone in Tupelo, while dad went to work in Memphis war plants. Rentals were scarce at the time and it wasn’t until September 1948 that my whole family was able to move to Memphis. I was 13. Memphis was a hotbed of musical talent and “race music” (the term often used for rhythm and blues in that era.) I liked to frequent the many blues hangouts near my neighborhood and attend all-night gospel sings. At first the big city seemed BIG. |

Module 7 – High School

| | |
|------------------|--|
| Scope | New to Memphis Brought guitar to school Senior show Football Graduation |
| Keywords | Student, grades, school, sports, 1953, guitar, poor, senior, graduation, |
| Answer | We just moved to Memphis, and I didn't know a sole. We were much poorer than most of the kids so I was afraid I wouldn't fit in. It took me two full days to get up the nerve to enter the huge L. C. Hume High School, but I adjusted rapidly to the new surrounding and lost little time in drawing attention. I'd bring my guitar and entertain the kids during lunch hour, and stole the show at my senior variety program – receiving more applause than anyone else on the bill! I was a pretty husky kid and played some football. I ended up giving it up at my mom's request. I graduated from high school on June 3, 1953 |

| | |
|------------------|---|
| Scope | Self made recording |
| Keywords | 1953, Memphis Recording Service, “My Happiness”, gift, mom, birthday, “That’s When Your Heartaches Begin” |
| Answer | One Saturday during July 1953, I took $3.98 into the Memphis Recording Service and made a recording of “My Happiness” with “That’s When Your Heartaches Begin” on the flip side as a gift for my mom on her birthday. The business was owned by Sam Phillips, so I was hoping he would hear me sing. |

Module 9 – Jobs

| | |
|------------------|--|
| Scope | High school job After high school Aspiration |
| Keywords | Jobs, high school, usher, theater, shift, Precision Tool, Memphis, truck driver, electrician |
| Answer | I took various jobs to supplement the family income. My first was during high school, ushering at Loew’s State Theater, and later on I worked a full shift (from 3 pm to 11:30 pm) at Marl Metal Products Company. After high school, I worked on an assembly line at Precision Tool Company, Inc. in Memphis and made 1.55 per hour. I didn’t like it, and only stayed 3 weeks before finding a truck-driving job with Crown Electric Company. I thought one day I’d be an electrician. |

Module 11 – Acquiring Graceland

| | |
|------------------|---|
| Scope | Motivation for buying Graceland Finding and buying Graceland |
| Keywords | 1957, mansion, Graceland, “Love Me Tender”, civil war, uncle, Vester, Memphis |
| Answer | On March 25, 1957 I purchased a 23-room mansion in Memphis known as Graceland. I got the idea while making my first film in 1956, Love Me Tender. It was a civil war costume piece. I was impressed with the Confederate era home and the set for the film – the farmland and rolling hills, with an imposing brick house full of interesting furniture and adornments. I called my parents and told them I wanted to buy a big farm, a place in the country, for $100,000 or so. I asked my dad to start looking right away. Mom, however, wanted no part of barns and tractors. She thought what we really needed was a few acres with a larger house that was not too far from town. My uncle Vester Presley took a leisurely drive with my mom and dad. They spotted a for sale sign and followed the driveway to a gigantic house with columns in the front. Dad called to tell me about it in Hollywood, and I told him to go ahead and buy it. Once I saw it, I loved it. It was home. After that I only left Memphis when necessary. |

| Keywords | Draft, army, 1957, King Creole, 23, hair cut, Fort Chaffee, Arkansas, 1958, Fort Hood, Texas, basic training, mom, death |
| Answer | I received my draft notice into the US Army on December 19, 1957. I received a 60-day deferment on my induction so that I could complete the filming of King Creole. At 23, I reported for army service at Fort Chaffee Arkansas on March 24, 1958. The next day, I received the most photographed haircut in history. Some of my female fans wept as the army barber sheared my trademark hairdo. I didn’t mind. It was all in the line of duty. I left for Fort Hood, Texas a few days later for my basic training. During basic training my mom got sick and died. This was something I never really got over. |

| Keywords | Army, stationed, Armory, West Germany, dad, Grandmother, autographs, soldier, Hell, Wheels, jeep, karate, serial, Sergeant, active, duty, badges, discharge, 1960 |
| Answer | I was eventually stationed with the Third Armored Division in the quaint town of Bad Nauheim, West Germany. I spent the next year and a half there with my father and grandmother, Minnie Mae in a rented house near the army base. Minnie Mae would cook for me and my dad organized nightly autograph sessions for my fans. Once in the service I did not want to receive any special treatments as a soldier, and I refused to take on any easy assignments or to garner any extra privileges. My army nickname was Hell on Wheels. I was assigned to drive a jeep. In my off hours I began to study karate, which became a lifelong passion. My serial number was 55310761. I reached the rank of Sergeant E5. I received many marksmanship and sharpshooter badges and a Good Conduct ribbon. I was discharged from the active duty on March 5th, 1960 |

Module 14 – Meeting Pricilla

| | |
|------------------|---|
| Scope | Meeting Pricilla Living with her at Graceland Pricilla finishing high school |
| Keywords | Pricilla, Germany, Beaulieu, 1959, Graceland, Memphis, 16 years old, high school, |
| Answer | In Germany, I visited nightclubs and met many women. On September 13, 1959, I met a 14-year-old girl who changed my life – Priscilla Beaulieu. She was the daughter of an officer who was stationed near me. After that we tried to see each other every night until I left Germany on March 1, 1960. Two years after leaving West Germany, I flew Pricilla and her parents to L.A. for a visit. After touring Hollywood and spending Christmas with my family in Graceland, Pricilla’s parents agreed to let her stay with me in Memphis, with the firm stipulation that I make sure she graduated from high school. She was 16 at the time. We kept the relationship a secret, and as I filmed movies on location, she lived at Graceland with my grandmother and attended and all girl high school – Immaculate Conception. |

Module 15 – Getting married

| | |
|------------------|---|
| Scope | Getting married Reception Influencing Pricilla |
| Keywords | Pricilla, marriage, Las Vegas, diamond, reception, Graceland, nuptials, influence, teenager |
| Answer | Priscilla and I married on May 1, 1967 in an eight-minute ceremony at the Aladdin Hotel in Las Vegas with 14 guess present. I made it official by presenting her with a 3.5-carat diamond. We later had a more elaborate reception at Graceland on May 29 for friends and family who didn't attend our Vegas nuptials. I tried to mold young Priscilla into the woman I wanted as a wife, influencing her as an impressionable teenager while directing her clothing, hairstyle and makeup choices. |

| Scope | Lisa Marie Her children Her marriages Singer/songwriter Chairman of Elvis Enterprises |
| Keywords | Daughter, Lisa Marie, Danny, Danielle, Benjamin, Michael Jackson, Nicholas Cage, Scientology, Elvis Presley Enterprises |
| Answer | Nine months to the day after our wedding, our only child, Lisa Marie was born on February 1, 1968. She was named after Colonel Parker’s wife Marie Mott Ross Parker. She weighed 6 pounds, 15 ounces She grew up married Danny Keough, and had a daughter Danielle Rile, and a son Benjamin. They are my only grandchildren. She divorced Danny and eventually married Michael Jackson (which made me roll over in my grave). Later they divorced. Later she married Nicholas Cage in Hawaii She got off to a rough start with drugs and alcohol, but after straightening herself out with the help of the Church of Scientology, she’s become a successful singer and songwriter. She is also Chairman of the Board for Elvis Presley Enterprises. |

| | |
|------------------|--|
| Scope | Influencing Pricila My bad behavior, Vegas tours Divorce |
| Keywords | Divorce, Pricilla, wife, teenager, absences, temper, bodyguards, Vegas, tours, women, Graceland, Lisa Marie |
| Answer | I met Pricilla when she was very young. I tried to mold her into the woman I wanted as a wife, influencing her as an impressionable teenager while directing her clothing, hairstyle and makeup choices. It worked when she was younger, but as she matured into her own adulthood, she and I began to drift apart. She also grew tired of my long absences, my bad temper, and my constant entourage of band mates and bodyguards. When I settled into my endless tours and live performances in Vegas, she saw me less and less. Eventually, I even refused to allow her to visit me for my long stays in Vegas. She had good reason to believe I was filling the time by entertaining scores of young women. She left Graceland with Lisa Marie in December 1971, and we were divorced in October 1973. We always maintained a warm friendship and were committed to amicably raising Lisa Marie together. |

|------------------|---|
| Scope | Reputation with conservatives Reputation with racists Homosexuality Shyness |
| Keywords | Homosexual, gay, racist, hip-swinging, conservatives, hooliganism, delinquency, Nick Adams, career, Elvis, Pelvis, nick name, shyness |
| Answer | People either worshipped me or despised me. It was hard to just ignore me. Conservatives thought my hip-swinging stage style and breathy vocals were obscene. Racists denounced me for mingling black music with white. I was considered responsible for all teenage hooliganism and juvenile delinquency. There have been rumors about me having a homosexual relationship with actor Nick Adams. It's really no one's business whether I did or didn't, but at the time, if information like this got out to the public it could have ruined my career. The truth is that I was really quite shy. It was only performing on stage that I lived up to my nickname of Elvis the Pelvis. |

| Keywords | Fame, downfall, 70s, health, lifestyle, overeating, junk food, fried, peanut butter, weight, sleep, performances, prescription, drugs, Dr. Nichopoulos, amphetamines, diet, barbiturates |
| Answer | In the 70s, I'd achieved my comeback. I was so famous; people would pay to see me regardless of how I performed. I grew rather lazy about my work. My lifestyle became very unhealthy. I ate too much junk food (including deep fried peanut butter and mashed banana sandwiches) and my weight ballooned. I slept all day and stayed awake all night. I trudged through the decade giving as many as 165 live performances a year. Eventually the grueling tour schedule wore me out. With unrestricted quantities of prescription drugs available from my personal physician, Dr. Nichopoulos, I increasingly used amphetamines as a substitute for sufficient sleep and a healthy diet, and took an ever-greater assortment of barbiturates to help me sleep. |

| | |
|------------------|---|
| Scope | Dating and relationships Crazy fans |
| Keywords | Dating, relationships, women, mom, Germany, Pricilla, Miss so-and-so, marry, crazy fans, leading ladies, fiancée, |
| Answer | I didn't date much in high school, but shortly after I began hanging around with Miss So-and-So. She was a very dear friend to me and we could talk about anything. My mom loved her and assumed we'd marry one day. When I went to Germany, we wrote often. I had a deep love for her, but when I met Pricilla, I was swept off my feet. I continued writing to Miss So-and-so because she was such a dear friend, and we even continued dating a bit after I returned from Germany, but my feelings for Pricilla were too strong to overcome, and once she turned 16 she secretly moved into Graceland to live with and eventually marry me. There were many women, leading ladies, and crazy fans on the side. Although it felt good to have so many people adore me, none of the relationships were very meaningful. After Pricilla left me, the only other real relationship I had was with Ginger Alden, who I was engaged to when I died. |

| | |
|------------------|---|
| Scope | Death Cause of death Mourners |
| Keywords | Death, fiancée, Ginger Alden, hospital, dead, heart attack, prescription drugs, doctor, Graceland, body, coffin, fans mourners |
| Answer | On August 16, 1977 after a late night game of racquetball, I told my fiancée, Ginger Alden, that I could not sleep and was going to the bathroom to read. Many hours later she found me slumped over on the bathroom carpet. I was rushed to the hospital but they were unable to resuscitate me, and I was officially pronounced dead at 3:30 pm. I was only forty-two years old. Doctors at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis said I had died of a heart attack. Later they revised their opinion saying that traces of at least 10 prescriptions drugs were found in my blood. People began to gather at Graceland as soon as the news of my death was made public. My body was brought back to Graceland dressed in a white suit, and fans were allowed to view my body after being searched for hidden cameras. Eighty thousand passed my coffin in one day. |
