Hotel Deca

Historic Distinction

The Hotel Deca first opened its doors in 1931 and at the time was the Pacific Northwest's largest suburban hotel. It was built by many of Seattle's civic leaders and top business owners who saw a need for an upscale hotel in the city's burgeoning University District. Reflective of architect Robert C. Reamer's distinctive Art Deco style, the hotel was included in the 1938 American Institute of Architects traveling exhibition of the 100 most distinguished buildings in America. It has been the choice of visiting dignitaries, Noble Peace Prize winning scientists, and the occasional celebrity ever since.

We are the only hotel in the University District with such rich heritage and tradition. One cannot help but appreciate the historically elegant character, integrity, and architectural significance of the U District's only landmark hotel.

Everything's New

In February of 2013 the Hotel Deca completed a million dollar renovation project bringing a high level of designer style to the hotel, yet retaining the beauty and elegance of the original 1931 architecture. Our contemporary lobby with its warm fireplace, bold murals, and book strewn mahogany bookcases welcomes everyone as a distinguished guest. Elegantly appointed guest rooms feature boldly patterned textiles, a corner bay window, luxurious down blankets, wireless internet access, and of course every other modern convenience. For guests lucky enough to stay in our Sky level rooms (floors 7 thru 15), the hotel offers some of the best views in all of Seattle of the downtown skyline, the University of Washington campus, the surrounding lakes, or the beautiful mountain vistas. If you are looking for something even more unique, try our Penthouse floor. Featuring three unique suites with their own fireplaces, marble baths, flat-panel televisions, and wrap around outdoor decks, they are the pinnacle of luxury.

Six meeting rooms with a combined 5500 square feet of meeting space have been fully renovated and outfitted with high-speed and WiFi internet access. The Grand Ballroom retains the elegance and beauty of its original 1931 era with 16-foot high ceilings and antique brass chandeliers. Complete Catering and Audio Visual services are available to ensure the success of your event.

Hotel and Area Amenities

The District Lounge offers guests of Hotel Deca an exciting and entertaining dining experience in Seattle. It is an intimate neighborhood restaurant located on the lower level of the hotel. "The District" offers a casually hip dining experience with oversized furnishings, serpentine drop lighting and eclectic art décor. For additional options in Seattle's restaurant scene, where seafood and steak restaurants are the order of the day, our concierge can recommend renowned restaurants such as the Metropolitan Grill, The Brooklyn (for steaks and oyster bars) or Anthony's (for seafood and even Asian Fusion) just minutes from Hotel Deca.

You won't need to leave the hotel to take advantage of some of the amenities of the Hotel Deca. Located in the lobby is our business center, which consists of two computer stations and printer. To keep yourself in the best shape possible, take advantage of our workout facility. The fitness center is complimentary to guests. For your comfort and convenience, we offer wireless internet access, cable TV with premium channels and complimentary daily newspaper. All accommodations are 100 percent non-smoking.

Location is Everything

Located in the heart of Seattle's University District, the Hotel Deca is situated just two blocks from the University of Washington's main campus. A brief stroll through our historic neighborhood leads to the discovery of a unique blend of architecture, culture, and outdoor adventure. Whether it is the Burke-Gilman trail where hikers and bikers alike enjoy 27 miles of scenic adventure, the Burke Museum of Natural History, or the many eclectic shops, restaurants, and theatres, there is always something new to discover. We are just 3 miles from downtown Seattle where some of the finest restaurants, antique shops, boutiques, and museums in the country enjoy spectacular views of Puget Sound. While in town guests can also enjoy leisurely sunset cruises, Duck tours, golfing, winery tours...the possibilities are endless! Hotel Deca is a 30-minute ride from SEATAC International airport.
