Synopsis of "Double Agent"

The North Korean Agent Lim Pyŏnggho sent south charged with the task the South Korean revolution has wiped away suspicion about his fake defection and gained the trust of the southern side, living in South Korea for three years. Making contact with Yun Sumi, an agent domiciled within South Korea, he carefully carries forward his task, and gradually begins to feel sympathy for her. On the one hand, as he was in the middle of transmitting through Sumi news of a South Korean spy squad in preparation for being sent to the north, he finds out about South Korean and North Korean plots, and what they want, though their intentions are different, Lim Pyŏnggho finds out is in the end his own liquidation.
