Regional development occurs through all of the processes described above, but different regions are subject to varying mixes of the forces outlined there.

- Equalizing forces in most, if not all regions, are overwhelmed by forces that promote inequality and UNEVEN DEVELOPMENT.