

University of Washington Brain Awareness Week 2011

Brain Awareness Week (BAW) is a yearly event to promote the public and personal benefits of brain research. As part of international BAW at the University of Washington, you are invited to an Open House on Tuesday, March 1, 2011.

The Brain Awareness Week Open House will include an interactive group assembly about the brain and hands-on exhibits that highlight different aspects of brain research. The Open House will be held at the Museum of History and Industry (MOHAI; 2700 24th Ave East; Seattle, WA), just south of the University of Washington Seattle campus. Because of the high interest in the Open House and limited space available, we may restrict the number of people who can attend. In addition to attendance at the Open House, students and teachers will receive FREE admission to MOHAI.

For more information about UW BAW Open House, contact Dr. Eric H. Chudler (phone: 206-616-6899; e-mail: chudler@u.washington.edu) or visit the UW BAW web page at:

<http://faculty.washington.edu/chudler/baw.html>

If you would like to attend the Open House, please complete the following application and return it by email (chudler@u.washington.edu) or regular mail by January 28, 2011, to:

Dr. Eric H. Chudler
UWEB E/O; Department of Bioengineering
Box 355061; 3720 15th Ave NE
University of Washington
Seattle, WA 98195-5061

Those teachers and classes selected to attend the Open House will be notified no later than February 4, 2011. Register early – space fills up quickly!!
