

belltown messenger

DOCUMENTING DOWNTOWN SEATTLE

NO. 51 • June 2008

belltownmessenger.com

FREE

If you walk the streets of Belltown, chances are you will see dogs everywhere: on street corners, walking their humans, at the corner dog park, on outdoor patios. The places you likely won't see a dog are inside the many restaurants and cafes located throughout the area. One local business is changing all that.

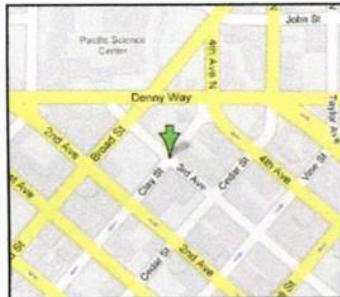

Dog City Bakery and Café, located at the corner of 3rd and Clay, is the marriage of dog park and bakery; like your living room with really good coffee. This unique retail space is located at the brand-new Mosler lofts, the LEED-certified building that has garnered media attention lately for its New York style lofts and green construction.

Looking for a place to hang with your dog?

Dog City has partnered with well-known local and national names to bring together the best that Seattle has to offer. Coffee and espresso drinks are expertly prepared by the folks at Stumptown Coffee Roasters (the same cup of delicious coffee you fight for on Capitol Hill is now available right down the street!) with tasty, organic human goodies provided by Julia's. For your special pooch, Dog City has teamed up with Three Dog Bakery to provide their world-famous dog goodies, from organic dog biscuits to special-occasion pupcakes. In addition to food and drink, Dog City has a gorgeous retail loft space dedicated to the Wag Hotel couture line, previously only available online or at their hotels in California. This line brings together the most stylish pieces of dog fashion from designers such as Juicy Couture, Urban Hund and Mario's World. The biggest draw for Dog City, however, is sure to be its indoor play area for dogs. The area has a high plexiglass enclosure, can be observed from every spot in Dog City, and is big enough for large and small breeds alike to mingle. There is an outdoor patio and there are lots of oversized, cushy couches and chairs in case your dog wants to cuddle. Lastly, you can feel good about all of the goodies available at Dog City; Stumptown, Julia's and Three Dog Bakery products are all-natural, organic and use only local ingredients. This relaxed atmosphere, good food and a pet-centered focus is the place Seattle has been craving.

Dog City Bakery and Café, located at 3rd and Clay at the new Mosler Lofts.

Dog City will be holding its grand opening celebration on June 27 —drop in all weekend for free dog goodies, chances to win Wag merchandise and half-price coffee and espresso.

A Deal to Kick Up Your Heels
Twenty Buck Duck
 Two-course duck dinner for $20
 throughout January

CAMPAGNE

86 Pine Street • Seattle, Washington • 206-728-2800 • campagnerestaurant.com

Belltown Neighborhood Directory
belltown.org

John L. Scott
 REAL ESTATE

Rico McPherson
 (206) 779-Rico (7426)
ricom@johnlscott.com

CONDO SPECIALIST