

An International Conference

Economic Integration and Economic Growth, II

March 18 and 19, 2017
University of Washington, Seattle, USA

- Organizing Units: Research Center for International Economics, University of Washington, US
Department of Economics, Kobe University, Japan
Department of International Trade, School of International Trade and Economics,
University of International Business and Economics, China
International Management Institute, Kolkata, India
Korea Institute for Industrial Economics and Trade, Korea
Korea Economic Association, Korea
Asia-Pacific Economic Association
- Program Committee: Kar-yiu Wong, University of Washington, US
Arindam Banik, International Management Institute, Kolkata, India
Toshiki Jinushi, Kobe University, Japan
Chung Mo Koo, Kangwon National University and Korea Economic Association, Korea
Tamotsu Nakamura, Kobe University, Japan
Noritsugu Nakanishi, Kobe University, Japan
Zhongxiu Zhao, University of International Business and Economics, China
- Executive Committee: Kar-yiu Wong, University of Washington, US (chair)
Joshua Aizenman, University of Southern California, US
Shin-ichi Fukuda, Tokyo University, Japan
Yunfang Hu, Kobe University, Japan
Xiaopeng Yin, University of International Business and Economics, China
- Host: Department of Economics, University of Washington, US
- Local Organizing
Committee:

This is a sequel to a previous conference held in Seattle in May, 2016. In view of the rapid growth of many economies in Asia and the rise in several forms of economic integration in the Asia-Pacific region, this conference is being organized to allow economists to share their research ideas and results related to those relevant yet important issues. Both theoretical and empirical papers will be considered, but papers that cover or are related to the following topics are especially welcome:

- US-Asia economic relations;
- free trade agreements or negotiations in the Asia-Pacific region;
- Inward and outward FDI and international business;
- cross-border E-Commerce;
- monetary cooperation and coordination among countries;
- rise of the renminbi and its internationalization;
- economic growth: theory and experience of various countries;

The conference does not require registration fees, but participants are responsible for their travel and accommodation expenses.

Economists are invited to present a paper (theoretical or empirical) in the conference. Please send an extended abstract (200+ words) or a draft of a paper for presentation consideration to <sea17@apeaweb.org> by January 31, 2017. Please mention in the submission the names, affiliations, and e-mail addresses of all co-authors.

More information is available at: <http://faculty.washington.edu/karyiu/confer/sea17/index.htm>.