

Dedication

---

To all students of quantum mechanics past, present, and future, but especially to the first students who will learn quantum mechanics not as a mystery which cannot be understood, but as reality which must be experienced, explored, and harnessed.